

Myles Bradley Bio

Capital City Bank proudly announces Specialty Lending Manager Myles Bradley has been named senior vice president. As the specialty lending manager for Capital City Bank, Bradley leads the Working Capital Finance efforts of the Bank and is responsible for all government guaranteed lending.

Bradley has been a Capital City Banker since 2009 and brings extensive banking and specialty lending experience, having held roles in Commercial Real Estate, Special Assets and Business Banking before becoming WCF manager in 2015. Bradley earned his bachelor's degree in Business Administration Management from Florida State University. He is an active member and contributor with the International Factoring Association and a member of the United Way of the Big Bend Young Philanthropists Circle Board of Directors.

I also owned and operated Epyon Technologies, Inc. from 2007-2011.

I'm not as good as I used to be, but technology is a stronger skill of mine. I'm fairly good at research, and finance is obviously another.
